

Client – Stroh Brewing Company

Project – Develop new Packaging & labels for Rainier Beer named after Mount Rainier in Washington. For a small brand like Rainier we needed to think differently than the big boys. Based on the mountain it was named after all the visual identity and packaging was oriented towards the outdoors and more specifically camping themes. Out of the box thinking needed to stand out from the crowd!